Energy Vision Advisory Committee (EVAC)
2022/2023 Term

The Clean Energy Partnership is a first-in-the-nation approach that partners the City of Minneapolis with Xcel Energy and CenterPoint Energy, the City’s electric and natural gas utility providers, to help the City reach its greenhouse gas emission reduction goals through energy conservation and renewable energy. The Minneapolis Climate Action Plan and City of Minneapolis Energy Vision 2014 set the City’s climate goals and inform Partnership activities. The Energy Vision Advisory Committee (EVAC) is charged with reviewing and providing feedback on the biennial work plan and measurement and performance reports; providing feedback on special initiatives as requested by the Board; and communicating to members’ respective constituencies about EVAC and Board decisions and activities. Members should be a resident, business or organization located within the City of Minneapolis. Preference will be given to individuals or entities with a history of working in or with the city. List the reasons you want to serve on this body and list the Climate Action Plan and Energy Vision 2040 goals and strategies you believe the Partnership should prioritize:

The City seeks to actively increase diversity on advisory bodies, an effort that is imperative to meeting the City's goal of eliminating disparities, so all Minneapolis residents can participate and prosper. The City also routinely reports on the diversity of its boards and commissions as a whole, reporting on diversity benchmarks of age, gender, race, income, educational attainment, disability status, and renter/homeowner.

Disparities also exist among the many facets of energy and climate, further enforced by a historical lack of diversity within the groups that help drive and shape policy. Successful efforts to tackle our energy and climate problems are dependent on elevating new, diverse voices. One vehicle for this is increasing diversity and inclusiveness within the Energy Vision Advisory Committee.

How would you personally and/or professionally contribute to the diversity and/or inclusiveness of the committee?:
